

An aerial photograph of a rural landscape. A yellow boundary line outlines a specific area of land in the center-left. To the left of this area is a large, curved, light-brown field, possibly a cornfield. Below the yellow-outlined area is a small pond. To the right is a cluster of houses and buildings. A yellow compass rose is located in the upper right quadrant, pointing North. The overall terrain is a mix of green fields, forests, and developed areas.

